What’s happening Week 3?

Thinking Gender: Pre-existing Conditions Student Research Conference
The UCLA Center for the Study of Women invites submissions of posters and visual arts proposals for our 28th Annual Thinking Gender Student Research Conference. Pre-existing Conditions, this year’s conference theme, focuses on connections between health and gender in the context of current discussions about gender-focused health and healthcare. We invite undergraduate students in all disciplines to submit ART and POSTER presentation proposals. The proposal deadline to submit is November 1, 2017. To learn more and submit your proposal online, visit http://csw.ucla.edu/TG18.

UCLA McNair Research Scholars Program
The UCLA McNair Research Scholars Program is a two-year research intensive program that prepares undergraduate students to apply to the best graduate programs and excel while pursuing a Ph.D. McNair students enroll in a weekly McNair Research Seminar course and in SRP 99 where they develop an individual research project under the guidance and supervision of a UCLA Faculty Mentor. In the summer between their 1st and 2nd year in the program, McNair Scholars participate in the UCLA McNair Summer Research Institute, which includes faculty-supervised research, graduate mentoring, and intensive workshops on graduate school admission. In their 2nd year, McNair Scholars enroll in independent study courses with their respective UCLA Faculty Mentor, complete their individual research project and write a senior thesis. Students also apply to graduate school, present at an academic conference, and intensive workshops on graduate school admission. For more information about the program, please visit www.aap.ucla.edu/programs/mcnair-research-scholars/

Astin Civic Engagement Fellows Program
The UCLA Center for Community Learning is (re)launching the Astin Civic Engagement Fellows program. Students selected will intern with Big Citizen Hub throughout winter and spring quarters, and will enroll in a 4-unit upper division independent study course each quarter. Students selected to be Astin Fellows will receive a $2,000 scholarship. All interested students should email Dr. Doug Barrera to be sent a link to the application page. The deadline to apply is November 3rd.

Transfer Pride Week
Bruin Transfer Pride Week (BTPW) is a collaborative event to celebrate UCLA’s transfer student population. Every year, partners from across campus come together to create awareness and support the transfer student population.

This year, BTPW will take place from October 14-21. Some highlights of the week will include a transfer blood drive, resume pop-up, research mixer, and a community service project! There will also be a commuter breakfast and a Non-trad mixer and game night! You can also receive a free UCLA Transfer T-shirt by spending more than 5 minutes with an advisor from AAP, FWP, CAC, Case Manager, or IEO/Study Abroad during drop-in office hours.

For a list of all the events occurring during BTPW, check out https://www.facebook.com/pg/bruintransfers/events/?ref=page_internal.

CONDUITS

Are you looking for hidden campus gems to enhance your time at UCLA? Look no further! Every week Conduits will feature a campus resource, selected by our very own ASK Peer Counselors, that will help you maximize your academic and social experience at UCLA.

I’m sure you hear it all the time: “Go visit the Career Center!” But what exactly does the Career Center have to offer? The Career Center offers amazing free materials and counseling resources for undergrad students! You come in for a drop-in appointment for resume and cover letter review, internship search help, applying to jobs, and more. You can also schedule a Career Counseling appointment through BruinView (accessible via MyUCLA > Finances and Jobs). The Career Center offers a myriad of career & graduate and professional school fairs and info sessions. Make sure to keep a look out for emails about the quarterly Career Fair. It’s an excellent way to get your foot in the door with recruiters specifically looking to hire UCLA students! Not sure what is your career path? Just like the many others who have told you… go visit the Career Center and find out!
