What’s happening Week 4?

Plan Your Summer at the Summer Opportunities Fair
There’s still a chill in the air, but now is the time to decide how you’ll spend your summer. Take advantage of the flexibility of summer to be productive. You can take courses on campus or online that will help you catch up or get ahead on your major and graduation requirements, get hands-on experience in your field at a summer institute, study abroad, get an on-campus job and more. Learn about all your options this summer at the Summer Opportunities Fair on February 13, 11 a.m. – 2 p.m. in Ackerman Union, Bruin Reception Room. Representatives from academic departments, summer institutes, financial aid and scholarships, UCLA Career Center and others will be on hand to share information about their offerings this summer. RSVP at www.summer.ucla.edu/opportunities-fair and follow the action on social media #DiscoverSummer.

Career Engagement Pop Ups
The Career Center will be hosting pop up locations all throughout campus to help students learn more about the services offered by the Career Center through 1:1 advising. At the Career Engagement Pop Ups, students can have their resumes and cover letters reviewed as well as gain job and internship search strategies. For resume and cover letter review, please bring printed copies of all documents. To see the dates and locations for each of the pop up locations, visit http://www.career.ucla.edu/Career-Counseling-Appts-Drop-In-Hours.

Food Studies Career Workshop
Love Food Studies, but are unsure of how it translates into a profession? Join us for an upcoming event, “Careers in Food Studies,” where you may explore the world of Food Studies as a profession and have the opportunity to engage with key experts in diverse food related fields. In attendance will be a dynamic group of working professionals whose scope of expertise and practice lie within food science, nutrition, non-profit, academia, policy, and sustainability. Sponsored by the Food Studies Minor and Graduate Certificate Program, the workshop will take place on Wednesday, January 31st, from 5-7 pm in Public Affairs, Room 2355. If you wish to attend the workshop, please complete the following Google form: http://tinyurl.com/foodstudiescareerevent.
Want to make a two, three, or four year plan? Are you graduating and need information about commencement? Then you’ve come to the right place, because this week’s edition of The Connection has you covered with a list of workshops currently offered by College Academic Counseling (CAC)!

iGrad Workshops for Graduating Seniors
If you are planning to graduate in Winter 2018, Spring 2018, Summer 2018, or Fall 2018, you should attend an iGrad Workshop! iGrad is a 90-minute workshop for College of Letters and Science seniors preparing to graduate. By attending the workshop you will learn all you need to know about completing your final degree requirements, understanding your commencement options, and getting your diploma. College Counselors will also review your degree requirements to ensure that you are on track to graduate. Sign-up for any of the eight iGrad Workshops on MyUCLA.

Graduate on Time Workshops
These interactive workshops are 90 minutes in duration and assist students in planning their remaining degree requirements. Students will leave the workshop with their own customized program plan. This Winter, we are offering 3 workshops for students who entered as freshmen and 2 workshops for students who entered as transfers. Available workshop dates/times can be found below:

- Freshmen Workshops (Graduate in 4 years):
  - Monday, January 29th: 11-12:30pm
  - Tuesday, February 6th: 2-3:30pm

An accelerated workshop for admitted freshmen will also be available, where we will discuss how to graduate in 3 years or less:

- Thursday, February 1st: 1-2:30pm

Transfer Workshops (Graduate in 2 years):
- Tuesday, January 30th: 2-3:30pm
- Monday, February 5th: 10-11:30am

All workshops will be held in the large conference room in A316 Murphy Hall. Students can register for these workshops via MyUCLA.

Expected Cumulative Progress (ECP) Workshop
This 30-minute workshop is available online and is designed for students who receive a first-time Expected Cumulative Progress (ECP) hold. If you receive a first-time ECP Hold, the workshop will appear on your CCLE home page on Monday of week 5. Students will learn about the ECP policy and how it impacts their academic progress. ECP holds are removed within 1 business day of completing the workshop. Please note that second and third-time ECP holds require a meeting with a counselor in order to remove the hold.

CONDUITS
Are you looking for hidden campus gems to enhance your time at UCLA? Look no further! Every week Conduits will feature a campus resource, selected by our very own ASK Peer Counselors, that will help you maximize your academic and social experience at UCLA.

Are you confused about how to find or apply to scholarships? UCLA has its very own Scholarship Resource Center that provides countless free services for students! These services include drop-in counseling for quick questions, an extensive scholarship database, one-on-one appointments, writing and proofreading support, and countless workshops offered throughout the quarter. It’s never too late to start searching for scholarships, so stop by the Scholarship Resource Center anytime! To find out more information, visit them on the Hill at 233 Covel Commons, or at http://www.scholarshipcenter.ucla.edu/.
