What’s happening Week 4?

Undergraduate Research Fellows Program (URFP)
Students in any major pursuing research during the winter and spring quarters may be eligible for the Undergraduate Research Fellows Program (URFP). The application is now open and can be accessed through MyUCLA (Campus Life-->Surveys). URFP students receive a $2,000 scholarship, conduct research under a faculty mentor’s guidance, and participate in HC101A: Student Research Forum. More information can be found at: http://www.ugresearchsci.ucla.edu/urfp.htm (for STEM majors), or http://hass.ugresearch.ucla.edu/urfp.htm (for Humanities, Arts, and Social Science majors). Scholarship information workshops begin the week of Oct 23rd. The application is due on November 15th.

Mellon Mays Undergraduate Fellowship (MMUF)
UCLA is among a select set of institutions administering the Mellon Mays Undergraduate Fellows program (MMUF). This 2-year program is designed for outstanding students in Mellon-designated humanities, arts, and social science fields who intend to pursue a PhD and a career in academia. The chief goal of the program is to diversify the professoriate and eradicate racial disparities in higher education. Mellon Mays Fellows receive two years of scholarship support and work closely with faculty advisors and graduate mentors to design and carry out an independent research project and prepare for graduate school. To apply, students should be junior-level undergraduates. For more information, please visit their website. A schedule of scholarship information sessions can also be found here. The application is due on November 15th.

Disability Studies Minor Information Session
What does it mean to be “normal”? Explore this question and other questions on disability, the body, representation, and access with the Disability Studies Minor. Learn about ‘disability’ as a social issue and intellectual framework to understand the human experience and not just a medically defined condition. Through a core course, carefully selected electives, a required two-quarter internship, and a senior capstone, students in the minor obtain breadth and depth in their understanding of the conceptual and practical implications of disability. Sign-up on MyUCLA (Workshops > Search “Disability Studies Info Session”) or visit www.disabilitystudies.ucla.edu.

Taking Classes Pass/No Pass

Are you interested in taking a class pass/no pass? Are you unsure whether the effect a pass/no pass grading basis will have on your GPA? Look no further because we have compiled all the information you need about taking a class pass/no pass.

What is Pass/No Pass?
The Pass/No Pass grading option is designed to give students the opportunity to explore areas of academic interest outside your area of expertise without the risk of jeopardizing your GPA.

Eligibility for Pass/No Pass
You must be in good academic standing (2.0 cumulative GPA and 2.0 GPA during the previous term). Students on Probation or who are Subject to Dismissal are not eligible to take classes pass/no pass.

How many units of Pass/No Pass can I take each quarter?
Provided that you are in good academic standing, you may take up to 5 units pass/no pass each quarter. However, if you did not take any classes pass/no pass during a quarter you were eligible to do so, you are eligible to take up to 10 units pass/no pass the following quarter.

Equivalent Letter Grades for Pass/No Pass
To receive a Pass and units towards graduation, you must earn a C or better in the class. A C- or below will result in a No Pass and no units will be applied towards graduation.

Limits on Pass/No Pass
Any classes taken as preparation for the major or for the major itself cannot be taken Pass/No Pass. Courses taken for a minor may not be taken Pass/No Pass. Additionally, courses taken to satisfy Entry Level Writing, Writing I, Writing II, Quantitative Reasoning, or Diversity requirements may not be taken Pass/No Pass. When in doubt about whether a certain course may be taken Pass/No Pass, consult with your departmental or college counselor.

When is the last day to change to Pass/No Pass?
The last day to change the grading basis of a class with a fee on MyUCLA is Friday of Week 6 (November 10). No signatures or petitions are needed up to this date. There is a per-class fee for changing the grading basis of a class past Week 3 ($5 per class). After Friday of Week 6, you must submit a Late Change of Credit Detail Petition to your counseling unit. Keep in mind that these petitions are very difficult to get approved. Please note that the Pass/No Pass grading option was created to allow students explore different areas of academic interest. This grading option is not intended to cover circumstances as poor performance, superior performance, poor judgment, change of major, or illness. The grading option was also not meant to be reversible late in the quarter to allow a student who has performed well to take advantage of a good grade and boost one’s GPA.

CONDUITS

Are you looking for hidden campus gems to enhance your time at UCLA? Look no further! Every week Conduits will feature a campus resource, selected by our very own ASK Peer Counselors, that will help you maximize your academic and social experience at UCLA.

Have you heard of the UCLA Student Health Education and Promotion (SHEP) Bruin Love Station (BLS)? The Bruin Love Station is a free mobile contraceptive supply and educational cart that was created to support a sex positive environment on campus and to ease conversations about sex, abstinence, sexuality, and sexual health. The BLS carries a variety of free safe sex supplies and sexual health educational materials, such as informative pamphlets about STI’s, abstinence, relationships, birth control, and emergency contraception. The cart is stationed once a week on-campus and every last Friday of the month on the Hill. When the cart is stationed out, an Ashe clinician is also present to answer any questions you may have. You can find their schedule on Twitter @BruinLuvStation or SHEP’s Facebook and Instagram pages @UCLAHealthEd. Stop by the Bruin Love Station to learn more about the other great free programs SHEP has to offer for all students!
